Patrol to honor fallen officers and support personnel at memorial ceremony

- What: The Ohio State Highway Patrol will recognize and honor its 39 officers and five support personnel killed in the line of duty tomorrow.
- When: Friday, May 7, 10:00 a.m.
- Where: Patrol Training Academy
740 East 17th Avenue
Columbus, OH 43211
- Who: Director Cathy Collins-Taylor, Ohio Department of Public Safety
Chief of Staff Michael McCann, Ohio Department of Public Safety
Colonel David W. Dicken, Patrol Superintendent
Families, friends and colleagues of fallen officers and support staff

The Ohio State Highway Patrol will recognize and honor its 39 officers and five support personnel killed in the line of duty since the Division's establishment in 1933. Family members of the fallen personnel and former and current Patrol employees will join together in observance of those who made the ultimate sacrifice.

In February of this year, the Patrol lost Tpr. Andrew C. Baldrige, of the Bucyrus Post, in a one-vehicle crash in Wyandot County.
